- There are two sets of papers, Set A and Set B.
- The papers have been sorted according to the seat plan, alternating sets for each column
- The stack of papers per row will be distributed from the aisle, facing down
- When the signal is given, those in the aisle will turn the paper face up, get the topmost paper then pass the remaining papers to their left or right
- Make sure to leave a paper on the seats without students, following the alternating set pattern
- The reverse of the above process will be done during the collection time
